Do you treat at least one client with low back pain per week?

We are a group of researchers from the University of Manitoba interested in learning about how you approach the management of clients with non-specific low back pain when they present with associated psychosocial demands.

We invite you to answer our survey and help develop the physiotherapy profession in Canada.

You can enter to win a $100 e-gift-card for Amazon.ca. Answer by October 20th to receive an extra chance to win.
